

The standard, that this province has set is that the child of every Canadian citizen, no matter his nationality, or the country from which he has come, shall have the priceless privilege of getting a public school education; with the object of enabling that child to develop into a good Canadian citizen."

This was the statement of Premier Norris, of Manitoba, at the fourth annual convention of the Ukrainian citizens of Canada.

A COMPARISON.

Quite frequently we hear complaints about the cost of living here and in many cases these complaining appear to have the idea that many of the necessities of life are higher here than at some other points. While no one will deny that the cost of living is high, yet these conditions are by no means localized. The trouble is that most of us who came from eastern Canada or the United States a few years ago, are prone to compare prices here today with what they were at our old homes when we left there before the war. Those however, who get letters or papers from these old homes, know that this is a mistake. A careful study of the markets in different centres will show that there probably never was a time in the past when prices were nearer alike in all lines, than they are in all corners of this continent at the present time. Any differences there are are very small and in most cases they are in favor of the smaller centres where running expenses are reduced to a minimum.

In conversation with one of our local merchants in connection with the new regulations set by the government to control the price of ham and bacon, he informed us that he was selling bacon now for less than he called for in the government regulation which goes into effect next month.

As proof of our statement above that we make a mistake in thinking that prices are the same in our old homes as they were when we left them, we reprint a portion of a letter recently received from Minneapolis dealing with prices in that city. And what is true of Minneapolis may be taken as a fair sample of conditions in other centres, probably not so fortunate as the whole state of Minnesota with reference to the real necessities of life. In this letter, the writer says she paid $45.00 for a suit of clothes, $35.00 for an overcoat and $10.00 for a pair of boots for a sixteen-year-old boy. For boys of that age suits have been and are being advertised in this paper by local merchants at from $15.00 to $20.00, and overcoats at about the same price, according to quality, and good boots at $5.00 to $7.00.

Here is some other prices given in the letter referred to: Round steak 40c; pork steak 40c; butter 72c; eggs 70c; sugar 15c; potatoes $2.00 a bushel; breakfast foods that used to be 10c and 12c now 25c; dried graham that used to be 10c to 35c now 35c to 45c.

Here round steak is selling for 25c and pork steak 40c. In a cash and carry price list printed at this office for a local merchant we notice dairy butter at 66c and cream at 72c. Eggs, sugar and potatoes are about the same price here as quoted above, and some breakfast foods are listed at two for 25c. "Grahams" are listed in the stores here at 35c up.

We draw these comparisons to the attention of our readers merely to show that prices have been advancing in all directions and that although they are higher here than they were a few years ago, they are, in keeping, with conditions in general and our merchants make a satisfactory showing when compared with other centres.

For a paper that "nobody takes any notice of" the Review certainly came in for some novelty at the newspapers meeting last Monday evening. However, as people usually "consider where things come from" no harm was done the Review. When we remember Sir John McDonald's old saying: "You always find the most sticks and stones under the best apple tree," we consider the onslaught quite a compliment.

AMERICAN IMMIGRATION.

Some idea of the attractiveness of Western Canada for our American cousins may be gleaned from the following editorial which we clip from the "Canadian American" of Chicago:

"While one section of American industry is on strike, another section is settling down to the profitable task of home-making in the prairie provinces of Canada. Canada's immense spaces of untilled arable land, the sort that produces the champion grains displayed at international exhibitions, never looked so inviting to the United States wage-earner has today.

"The official Ottawa statistician announces that over 2,000 'aliens' reached western Canada during a recent month, nearly all a manual labor and artisans. During the same month a year ago, the total of similar arrivals was a little over 1,000. Here we have practically a doubling of U. S.-Canada emigration, less than 12 months after armistice day. Over 1,000 of these newcomers were destined for Alberta, famous chiefly for record wheat yielding industry, mining and oil riches. Alberta, which has 100,000,000 acres of tillable land, is larger than Germany and twice the size of the British Isles.

"We like to talk on this golden theme of U. S.-Canada immigration. It reminds us that the international border continues to be a co-operative and friendly link; that while 'Canucks' are being vilified here, Yankees are being recruited over yonder; that the Anglo-American Treaty of Peace and League of Nations are in the best working order and giving splendid satisfaction to a people most concerned."

"Word comes from Ottawa that it is the intention of the Dominion government to appoint a commission of experts to inquire into the tariff question. Since the tariff question is one that has been before the federal parliament and the Canadian people almost continuously since confederation it does appear strange that it should be necessary to appoint any commission in order to come to some definite understanding in the matter. This commission business is getting to be one of the biggest ruses in Canada. What's the use of selecting members of parliament if they can't look after the business of the country, but instead have to appoint committees to investigate this and the other thing that comes up before them? The members of parliament are the only ones who are responsible to the people and they are the only ones who should shoulder the responsibility of settling all such questions.

It is quite evident from reports from leading attention throughout Alberta that a great injustice is being done here and that as a result this province is losing considerable money through the unfair manum restrictions in certain parts of the province. The unfairness of these restrictions and the impossibility of getting any consideration from Dominion officials in this regard, was brought home to some people of this district last year when they tried to have good, healthy cattle moved into the restricted territory. Alberta cattlemen should give every assistance to the men who are bringing the matter to the attention of the government in an endeavor to get a square deal.

In speaking of the Prince of Wales says: "The people who tried hardest to dislike him seemed unable to do so." There is more in those few words than one would at a casual glance imagine. In this country where we get so little royalty, little attention was paid to the announced visit of the prince to Canada, by the average citizen. But as he drew nearer the hitherto uninterested ones grew enthusiastic and rushed to his nearest stopping place to see and hear him.

Reduction in passenger fares over the Canadian Pacific and the coal shortage is promised from Saturday next. If the C. N. R. had its Hanna branch into Redcliff completed it could at least partially solve this difficulty as we have "coal to burn" here.

Since Kentucky has voted itself dry what possible chance has Maple Creek got of getting on the map again.

Miners and Operators

Reject Gov't Terms

An abrupt end to all attempts to settle the nation-wide coal strike in the United States by peaceful agreement.

Miners and operators spent a bleak thanksgiving afternoon in embittered debate over the government proposals for a 14 per cent wage increase made by Fuel Administrator Garfield, rejected it and every other proposal that was forthcoming and then, dissolved sine die.

The participants went home and the break left coal strike conditions, not one them, minor or operator, would say 'Likewise' in official quarters there was silence.

Acting President John L. Lewis of the mine workers, though refusing to say one word as to the strike itself which was called off on obedience to the federal court injunction holding it a violation of the Lever act for war-time food and fuel control, rejected the government roundly at the conclusion of the conference. So did William Green, secretary of the mine workers.

Operators though accepting the government proposal definitely, in a letter of explanation to the union which they made public, intimated that the government's refusal to allow price increase would bear reconsideration.

Changes Forcasted

In Sask. Legislature

The province of Saskatchewan will have proportional representation in the urban municipalities, was the announcement made in the speech from the throne delivered at the opening session of the legislature.

Among other legislation foreshadowed by the legislature was a new measure in connection with the temperance question, changes in the department of education, providing among other things night schools and teachers' residences, enlargement of the powers of rural municipalities.

LATEST KISSING JOKE.

The man and the girl were discussing kissing, he declared that a man could kiss a girl whether she willed it or not, and she maintaining that it couldn't be done.

Finally they decided that the only way to prove their contentions was to try it. They did. The man won after a brief struggle and kissed the girl ardently for several minutes. Then he released her. "Oh, well," said the girl, "you really didn't win fair. My foot slipped. Let's try it again."

One acre of land on the demonstration farm at Brooks produced 4800 worth of alfalfa seed in two years.

Stevevill Farmers

After Rainmaker

The Stevevill farmers are taking steps to secure the services of C. M. Hatfield, the Los Angeles, "rain maker," to insure sufficient moisture for a crop next year. Hatfield's method is to build a series of towers by means of which secret chemicals are circulated through the atmosphere. He guarantees rain in four days and during the growing season he guarantees 10 inches of rain. Hatfield is highly spoken of in many localities and the Red Deer farmers are anxious to give him a trial. There is no charge if the rain falls to materialize and they feel that it is well worth trying out.—Brooks Bulletin.

WHAT HE LIVED TO SEE.

During the flu epidemic in San Francisco, when all public meetings were closed, and the entire population were urged to wear masks to prevent the spread of the disease, a drunken man was overheard muttering: "Well, I'm an old man, but I have lived my time and am ready to quit. I have lived to see four great things come to pass—the end of the war, the churches closed, saloons left open, and the women nudged."

P. Burne & Co., are shipping many cattle from the prairie provinces over to France and Belgium. The company's biggest shipment since the signing of the armistice was 700 head.

Drury Wants Better

Treatment of Prisoners

A radical reform in the administration of the criminal law of Ontario, under the new provincial government, was suggested by Premier Drury as one of the things that may be looked forward to from his administration.

Mr. Drury said: "At present those who offend the criminal laws are treated as enemies from the beginning. They are dealt with summarily, hastily and often in a spirit of levity. They are herded together like animals in the police courts. The spirit of the administration of these laws should be improved. There should be change in the treatment of prisoners."

"It is not a single alteration of the present laws that is required but a change rather in the administration of the laws we have. It may be that no new regulations will be needed for this. An or a hint judiciously given by the attorney-general may prove to be expression for the government sufficient. We must have the spirit of justice and charity in our courts. Their object must be to uplift, not to punish."

Countess Prime Margi, known to the general public as Mrs. J. J. Lamb, and one of the best known celebrities in the world, died at her home in Middleboro, Mass., after a long illness. She was 77 years of age and has travelled around the world several times under the management of the late P. T. Barnum.

The United States delegation to the peace conference will sail for home on December 6. The British delegation will probably leave Paris about the same time, although no official announcement has been made.

Wants Price of ## Materials Investigated

The clothing branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Ottawa, at meeting last Monday night, decided to press on the council of the Dominion Retail Merchants' Association the necessity of calling a Dominion-wide convention to take up the question of price fixing with the board of commerce.

The clothing firm that the board has been fixing the price of clothing, should have investigated the cost of raw materials, and claim that if their trade is to be singled out, unfairness will result, especially as the board has declared it is unable to fix the price of milk, and has not acted toward other industries in the same manner.

If any stranger had visited Redcliff's hall last Friday evening he surely would have been convinced that this town was passing through a period of hard times. On that occasion the Civic Improvement League held a hard time dance and the costumes of those present were certainly in keeping with the occasion. Prizes were given for the best make up representing hard times and these were won by Mrs.
Harper and Mr. Martin. There was a large crowd in attendance and the free and easy feeling which was in keeping with the costume added greatly to the pleasure and success of the evening.
